Learning Challenges: Learning does not come easily for all students. Students in Lutheran Special School must often work harder and longer than others to read, write, and do math. Our offerings can help find special ways to make learning easier for these students.
For every Bible verse or prayer you heard today.	For every pair of shoes you have to walk and run in.	For every second it takes to write your name with your opposite hand.	For every Christian song you could hear and sing today.	For the number of things you could see in 5 minutes to pick up and put away.	For every sport or activity you used your hands and feet to play today.	For every step you took to see your way from your bedroom to the kitchen.
Physical Challenges: Some students have a physical condition that makes it hard for them to do school work. Our offerings can help Lutheran Special School provide special tools, materials, and services to help the blind, hearing impaired, and paralyzed students learn in school.
For every hug and kiss you easily share with your loved ones.	For every friend you talk to today.	For every time you say please, thank you, or you're welcome today.	For every time you asked the teacher or parent a question.	For any time you told someone how you felt today. "I'm _____"	For every time you started a conversation with another person.
Social Challenges: Most of us can figure out how to make friends and share feelings on our own. Some students cannot learn these social skills on their own but have to be taught. Our offerings can help these students learn how to communicate with others and make friends.
For all the blessings you can think of that God gave you.	For a special talent God has given you.	For the gift of each person in your family.	For a special gift God has given you that is blessing to others.	For all the people that help you grow in your talents and abilities.

Special Gifts: All God's children have been blessed with special gifts and abilities. As part of the body of Christ, each has a special purpose for the benefit of the whole body of Christ. Our offerings can help students with special needs discover and use their gifts to God's glory.
